

PEN PORTRAIT – Bradley Saunders

I have recently been appointed a governor at Rushmere Hall Primary School, which I am very excited about.

For the past 12 months I have been a governor at another primary school within the Eko Trust and I am looking forward to supporting Rushmere within Eko next.

I have been a primary school teacher for the past 11 years. During this time I have been a class teacher, a leader of teaching and learning across a trust, and a Head of School.]

Now I am Deputy Headteacher of Gainsborough Primary School in Eko - a one form entry school in Newham, London where I am responsible for the curriculum and teacher and learning.

I look forward to sharing my experience and supporting the Rushmere Hall School community.
